Dear General

Thank you for your note of yesterday. I have wanted to come over and see you these last few days but have managed, with my usual luck, to get a violent cold from somewhere which I am doing with aspirin to try and shake off.

I am sending you the receipt from the Post Office showing that 16 pence and not 15 were delivered on Mr^r Warner's previous shipment. Apparently there is some mistake on their side if Mr^r Warner says that only 15 were received.

I will come over and see you as soon as I can shake this cold off, in the meantime, if you care, I would be glad if you could give the wife the money you mention - will surely be mighty acceptable.

Trusting you are improving in health Yours very sincerely,
Ed. Webb

Dear General

Thank you for your note of this morning. I have wanted to come over and see you for these last few days but have been with my usual luck, to get a certain call from somewhere about I am taking with refuse to pay and take off.

I am sending you the receipt from the tax office showing that I paid the tax of 12 hours' absence on the 2nd of January disputed. Apparently there is some mistake on their part of the 12 hours' absence that only 12 was received.

I will give you one for a year or less. I have taken this out of the if for one, I would be glad if you could give me with the money for interest - will surely be

Thank you for the information on health from very sincerely
